

PROVYS – workflow management tool

PROVYS has been designed for process-oriented organisations. Long term planning and programming contains strategic planning tools for a multi-channel environment, automated self-promotion, contingency planning for sport events, auto-replays and effective series planning as well as a programme guide and EPG data editing. PROVYS gathers and helps to evaluate transmission history.

The Production Management module provides production capacity planning and resource allocation including all functions necessary to prepare a detailed production plan (manually and/or using production project templates) with complete capacity utilisation information.

The Advertisement Sales module offers a range of break-pattern editing tools, block generation templates for easy-to-use inventory initialisation and standardised pricing options including price lists (both zone and block based) as well as GRP pricing options.

Rights Management is an integral part of the complete PROVYS management solution for media. It perfectly assists the content utilisation processes including linear broadcast operations, non-linear content distribution and content production.

Content Management and MAM offer advanced metadata handling; low resolution preview; automated media task planning and workflows; media file operations such as copy, move and remove; transcoding and QC using 3rd party tools; and media archiving.

PROVYS is localised in many different languages. PROVYS introduces order and rules into organisations and reduces the costs of operation. It is being constantly developed by professionals with a deep media industry knowledge.
